Highlights

The International Financial Center and Investment Climate Change Roadmap was approved by the Russian Federation Government Resolution 1012-R of 19 June 2013

The Roadmap is geared to

- boost the competitive edge of the Russian financial market by forming a stable and flexible regulatory environment to stimulate rollout and development of up-to-date financial products and services
- progress to a higher level of corporate governance, ensuring the protection of investors' title and interests
- remove the price discount on Russian financial assets vs. other emerging markets
- make the national financial system more robust in the long term

The Roadmap envisions the creation of a special marketing vehicle for the promotion of Moscow as an international financial center abroad. In July-September 2015, a number of steps were taken to establish this vehicle in the form of a non-profit partnership.
